

GRANTWRITER'S FASTTRACK COACHING PROGRAM

WITH DALYA MASSACHI, M.A.

The Grantwriter's FastTrack Coaching Program offers in-depth training, coaching, practice, and feedback to build your team's capacity to develop competitive grant applications. This unique online program results in at least one improved grant proposal/report that can be tweaked for months to come. We are an Approved Provider of CFRE continuing education credits.

The customized learning program is designed for groups of 2-5 colleagues (staff, volunteers, or board members) who:

- Seek to start or grow a robust grantseeking system at your nonprofit organization
- Are beginning/intermediate grantwriters who need guidance, accountability, practice, and feedback
- Need a convenient way to integrate grantwriting training into their regularly scheduled work

(Note: Colleagues can be from a single organization or 2 allied organizations. One-on-one programs are also available.)

The Multi-Week Program Includes:

- Several 90-minute live group webinars (recorded for future reference)
- Training documents with instruction, samples, checklists, worksheets, and other tools and resources
- Group discussions over several weeks, both during live sessions and online
- Thorough feedback and advice on real-time grant proposal/report drafts and other homework
- Supportive coaching about your organization's specific situation
- Official Certificates of Completion

3 Ways the Grantwriter's FastTrack Program is Unique

1. The FastTrack program doesn't deliver one-size-fits-all group training in a stripped-down "boot camp" style. Rather, it is customized to your organization's specific interests and schedule over several weeks. We allow time to process the lessons covered and practice in homework assignments.

2. The FastTrack program encourages your team members to learn from each other, as well as practice providing analytical feedback. Working as a team builds group cohesion in a shared context, and can lead to future collaboration.
3. The FastTrack program is conveniently delivered to your organization regardless of geography. All sessions (and the online discussion group) include extensive interaction and Q & A; the program is NOT like many of the static online trainings you may have experienced.

Since 2014, Grantwriter's FastTrack Program Participants Have:

- Increased their clarity, confidence, and enthusiasm about grantwriting
- Felt empowered to give helpful feedback to their grantwriting colleagues
- Understood what their next steps would be after the program's end

What Have They Been Saying?

“This process took some of the mystery out of grantwriting! I had been scrambling to get grant reports and proposals together, and 2 members of our FastTrack team pitched in. It was unprecedented and made a world of difference!... The program is now a training model for staff and members being introduced to fundraising.” – Jackie Byers, executive director, Black Organizing Project

“Dalya has been a great coach for our grantwriting program. She takes the time to really understand those participating in our program, and to make sure she gets them involved. I really feel everyone benefits when working with Dalya!” – Amy Rabin, organizer of educational programs for the National Network for Eliminating Disparities in Behavioral Health

“As an executive director, [I believe] this program was very helpful to train other staff. I do not have the capacity to give an in-depth training like what was offered here.” – Susana Sngiem, executive director, United Cambodian Community of Long Beach
